Guaranteed Income

Have you a guaranteed income to support you when you are old or disabled or for your family should you die?

A Woodmen of the World life Insurance certificate does that and more. It guarantees you or your loved ones an income when it's most needed to provide necessities, comforts and pleasures. And while you build this guaranteed income with small monthly payments, you also can enjoy the fraternal and social benefits offered by your local Woodmen Camp.

Give Your Boy a Good Start

You want your son to get the best possible start in life-in character, education, opportunity.

You can guarantee him the funds needed for school or college with a Woodmen Educational Endowment or Success Builder certificate. As a member of the Juvenile Department of the Woodmen of the World, your boy, from age 8 to 16, can also take part in the character-building fraternal and social activities of Boys of Woodcraft, and at age 16, he can graduate to full membership in the local adult Woodmen camp.

Call the local Woodmen representative. Ask him to explain the many fine features of Woodmen insurance protection for you, your son, or your family. Learn, too, about the "protection plus" benefits the Woodmen of the World fraternal and social activities offer you and your son.

Registered U S Patent Office) I believe in Goodness Not because nice people Taught me to be good-Not because I am naturally Kind or honest, Cheerful, brave or generous-S'far as I know have no natural virtues. Whatever goodness I possess, Or occasionally practice, I have learned the hard way, And easily forget.

Nor do I believe in goodness Because I think it will Save my soul hereafter. There is something repulsive to

About bargaining for salvation-If I can't like goodness For its own sake And its own power And practice it Right here and now For its own beauty, Without interest or dividends, Then I don't want to be Coaxed or threatened Into acting nice.

But I do believe in goodness-I rejoice in its beauty, 'm grateful for its comfort, I honestly wish I possessed it more.

Here's why-I believe in goodness For the most practical reason on earth-

I believe in goodness

Because it pays. There are many ways Of living one's life-Silly, conceited ways, Cruel and tricky ways, Smug and selfish ways, Downright ruthless ways. All of which seem to pay For a while I have tried Some of these ways myself-And I have watched Other people try them And sometimes envied Their results-

But, always, sooner or later, I found it was the bunk-No matter how alluring they look Such tactics never paid. Only GOODNESS paid

I believe in GOODNESS Because it is The only way of life That gives you A constant sense of well-being-The only program That builds and restores Your self-respect, And keeps you in tune With your neighbor And your world-The only plan That keeps you on the beam.

Money may fail you-Success may desert you— Friends may betray you— But goodness will Stay by you for keeps. Goodness will warm you, Cheer and renew you-I believe in goodness Because goodness always works. (Copyright, 1945, King Featur

Awarded Situation

Next morning I loaded the 20,000 papers into my jeep and started the long and tortuous ride down the winding roads which lead out of the Alps. I was heading back to Corps Headquarters, a hundred miles away.

The men at Corps received me very well and they distributed the papers to the divisions within a few But when I timidly mentioned the matter of fifty bucks which I had to raise some place they weren't so enthusiastic. Why shouldn't Stars and Stripes pay for its own newspaper? Oh, you pub lished it without any authority Well, that's a little matter between you and Stars and Stripes.

I started back for Grenoble but less than halfway there, I was overtaken by a wild-looking crew on weapons carrier. God save them i wasn't the entire Stars and Stripes staff-everyobdy in the or ganization from editors to linotyper and a few officers. Silently handed over the bill for fifty bucks

I guess they eventually paid it When we got back to Grenoble Stars and Stripes began legitimate publication and, for the first time in its long history, sent the paper back to front-line infantry troops for most of the regimental column were strung out for a hundred miles along the narrow road leading into n loving memory of our mother and e. Minnie Benson, who departed this one year ago October 16, 1944. Mother dear you went and left us here On earth you are no more, You have gone to join the angels, On a bright and peaceful shore. O, we miss you Mother darling, And our hearts are really sore, For the one we loved so dearly, Is not with us any more. But we miss you Mother darling.
